Chairman’s Letter
by Scott Ulbrich

Seasons greetings and welcome to the Winter Edition of the 2006 Ski Meister. I am proud to serve as President of the Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation. I heartily thank our hard working board of trustees, our staff and docents, and all of our loyal members for their support.

I am pleased to report that we are experiencing a fabulous response to our membership drive and have exceeded the membership numbers compared to the 2005 drive.

This year one of our board’s goals was to balance the 2006 budget – which we achieved. This achievement was primarily due to generous donations from the S.J. & Jessie E. Quinnney Foundation, the Janet Q. Lawson Foundation, museum members and from grants the foundation received. We have worked hard to reduce day-to-day operational expenditure without compromising the quality of the museum. Our cash position is solid with two endowment investment accounts as anchors. Our Executive Director, Connie Nelson, works tirelessly on grant applications, and marketing strategies to ensure that we are properly funded and interesting to our visitors. Thanks Connie!

Another 2006 goal was to increase our visibility and attract more visitors to the museum. Toward this goal, we have enhanced our website - www.engenmuseum.org. We now can keep visitors informed and entertained in a timely manner with regular news updates, video sections and a Museum Store. To add clout to our visibility our facility also received the 2006 Best of State Award in the Museum category. In addition, we have partnered with the Utah Olympic Park in a variety of marketing strategies that seem to be providing great benefit.

Our relationship with the Utah Athletic Foundation (UAF) remains strong. The UAF hired a new CEO/President, Colin Hilton, in May, 2006. Colin has a history in Park City working for the Salt Lake Organizing Committee for the Olympic Winter Games of 2002 and more recently at the Park City Municipal Corporation as Economic Development Director. Colin and his board of directors are committed to strengthening the long-term viability of the UAF through increased tourism – and all that benefits the Museum and the Utah Olympic Park.

With the 2006-2007 ski season upon us, I hope everyone enjoys our storied Utah powder. If you choose to enjoy it by skiing near-by Park City, The Canyons or Deer Valley, stop in and see us! I look forward to seeing you at the Alf Engen Ski Museum.
Greetings from the Executive Director

Happy Ski Season! Let it snow….let it snow! This is the time of year to be thankful and we certainly have a lot to be thankful for this year.

Our museum is thriving. I am thrilled to report that visitations have increased by 19.5 percent over 2005. We recorded 181,061 visitors during 2005/2006 compared to 151,512 during 2004/2005.

I sincerely thank the president of the Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation, Scott Ulbrich, and the board of trustees for being so supporting and offering a wealth of ideas. I am honored to work with such talented and compassionate people.

Our Education Program has been refined, has grown appreciably and is thriving thanks to our Education Committee and the wonderful docents who run the program. This year the museum hosted students from 26 schools accounting for more than 1,500 students, parents and teachers who toured our facility. This success is made possible through grants received from Summit County Recreation, Arts & Parks tax grant, the Marriner S. Eccles Foundation and the Underdog Foundation. Through their support we were able to offer each school a free field trip, including bus transportation, Utah Olympic Park entrance fee and docent support.

In an effort to keep our museum vibrant, we have added a new exhibit and changed the rotating exhibit in the foyer. The new exhibit highlights vintage ski photos from the 1930s-1950s by photographer Ray Atkeson. The rotating exhibit features 2006 Winter Olympic Games “local heroes” Ted Ligety, Stephen Cook and Stephani Victor. We also updated the Professional Ski Instructors Association award wall in collaboration with PSIA (in particular – Keith Lange and Clarke Parkinson).

The museum also has completed Phase II of its website update, thanks to the hard work of our Website Committee and Central Point Systems. Visitors to the site can now enjoy video clips highlighting various features associated with our Museum. We were also excited to report the opening of our Museum Store on the website featuring the Ray Atkeson photos, ski books that are for sale as well as a variety of ski related items. Please visit www.engenmuseum.org and see all of the enhancements.

In keeping with our mission, “To preserve the rich history of skiing in the Intermountain Region”, we inducted six ski pioneers into the museum’s Will & Jean Pickett Intermountain Ski Hall of Fame (see pages 6-8). Thanks to Barbara Yamada (chair) and the rest of the Hall of Fame Committee for dedicating hours of preparation time to ensure all nominations were well-screened and all attendees to the awards banquet enjoyed a memorable evening.

Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation members continue to be the foundation of our resounding success and achievement. Thank you to the returning members as well as the new members. We truly appreciate your support. If you have not had a chance to send in your membership materials, we have included a form in this newsletter. Your support is appreciated and valued.

Hope to see you at the Quinney Center soon - bring the whole family!

Meet a member of the Board

Kristi Terzian Cumming

Little did I know when I moved to Utah in 1984 for better ski training at Rowmark Ski Academy that I would end up living in Park City, married with children some 23 years later. Coming here when I was 16, all I had on my mind was ski racing and the US Ski Team. I competed for the US Ski Team for 10 years throughout the United States and Europe and along the way, I also won 3 US National Championships. My college education, a small retail coffee business, and starting a family have consumed the last 10 years. In 2003, I was honored to join the Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation Board.

Every year at our inductee dinner, I am amazed by the ski pioneers who came before me. These individuals truly had competitive spirit and passion for snow sports.

It was about bringing people together and honoring skiing greatness. The 2006 Hall of Fame provided a great venue for reconnecting long time friends and family members. They were there to rally around and honor six Intermountain skiing legends, but they also reconnected with friends and family members whom they hadn’t seen in years, and in some cases, decades.

Cal McPhie and his wife Dodie, early ski area developers, were joined by their son and his wife, three granddaughters, and the in-laws. Then there were the Reddishes. Numerous family members including Jack’s daughter Cory, and friends came to pay tribute to Jack Reddish, arguably the greatest American skier of his day.

“It was perfect, it really was,” said Dee Jennings of the evening organized to honor the accomplishments of her late husband Dev and other Intermountain skiing greats. Dee, who came from New Hampshire and three of their children, including a son and daughter-in-law who flew in from Canada, attended the event. The entire Jennings family also took advantage of the event and used the occasion to gather for a wonderful week of visiting and catching up at Deer Valley.

Marv Melville and his wife Renee were accompanied by their three daughters and sons-in-law. Marv was also able to reconnect with some longtime friends, including Jack Reddish’s younger brother Mike, and Bill Bennett, a school mate from many years ago. The three talked about old times and recalled the glory days when they were all members of the Granite High Ski Team.

It was a grand evening full of warmth and laughter as six skiing greats received well-deserved accolades from an admiring crowd. In case you missed the festivities, here are some highlighted accomplishments of the guests of honor.

H Devereaux “Dev” Jennings
- Competed in the Harriman Cup, Reno’s Silver Belt, and the U.S. National Championships.

- Little Mountain was the first area to offer night skiing, operating nightly and daily on weekends. They sold a 15-ride pass for 50 cents, a night pass for $1, and a weekend day pass for $1.50.
- After Little Mountain was destroyed by fire in 1968 Cal and his wife Dodie developed a new ski area.
- Gorgoza, the ski area they developed, was at the summit of Parley’s Canyon and was billed as an “all-purpose winter resort” that featured day and night skiing, ice skating, toboggan chutes and a tubing hill. The McPhies operated Gorgoza from 1968-1972.
- Cal and Dodie are charter members of the University of Utah Ski Archives advisory board.

One might say the 2006 Ski Affair had historic significance. And rightly so.

That’s because the Nov. 2 gathering of some 550 ski- and nostalgia-bent enthusiasts honored nine of the Intermountain Region’s history-making elite ski/snowboard/mono ski/sit-ski athletes and a ski resort developer who has made an indelible impression on Utah’s winter sports landscape.

Receiving the coveted History-Maker Awards were: Lacey Heward, Boise, ID; Monte Meier, Nathan Roberts, Stephani Victor, Erik Scholpy, Julia Mancuso, Ted Ligety, all of Park City, UT; Clay Fox, Gillette, WY; and Steve Cook, Salt Lake City, UT. They emblazoned their names on the history books by winning medals on the recent World Cup circuit and at the Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games of 2006.

Recognized for his extraordinary contributions to skiing in the region was Edgar Stern, founder of Deer Valley Resort, Park City. He was presented with the S.J. Quinney Award.

Pat Miller, former long-time ski team coach at the University of Utah and member of the Ski Archives volunteer advisory board, received the Sue Raemer Award. It is presented annually to the individual who exemplifies the untiring volunteer spirit of the late Sue Raemer, co-founder of the Ski Archives.

One-time United States Olympic Team member Suzy Harris Rytting and her husband Bill served as Honorary Chairs for the Ski Affair. Barbara Yamada, a member of the board of directors for the Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation, chairs the 24-member Ski Affair volunteer advisory board.

Rossignol, Alta Ski Area and Little American Hotel were the major sponsors of the 2006 Ski Affair that included a reception, silent auction, dinner and nostalgic video presentation. Salt Lake City television news reporter Larry Warren was the master of ceremonies.

The annual gathering is the largest fund-raising event for the University of Utah J. Willard Marriott Library’s Ski Archives, which was begun in 1989 to locate, preserve, catalogue and make available to the public the ski history of the region.

The Ski Archives is closely aligned with the Joe Quinney Winter Sports Center/Alf Engen Ski Museum and annually selects members to be inducted into the Will and Jean Pickett Intermountain Ski Hall of Fame that is housed at the museum.

The Ski Archives ranks among the nation’s largest ski records repositories. Its files include more than 100,000 images (20,000 digitized and online), 250 manuscript collections, 250 oral history interviews, and the records of the Salt Lake Organizing Committee for the Olympic Winter Games of 2002.
“The great difficulty in education is to get experience out of ideas.” George Santayana, the author of this quote, would definitely appreciate the Alf Engen Ski Museum’s field-trip program! Since the program’s inception in late 2002, over 5,000 students have experienced the ways in which our Utah weather is affected by the water cycle. They have seen the effects of advancing technology and have learned that there’s a human story behind every historical event. And, our reputation for providing a great educational experience to kids is spreading! Judging from the number reservations being made by first-time, as well as repeat teacher visitors, the 2006-07 school year will be the busiest yet. Our goal is to have every visitor leave the museum feeling like one fourth-grade teacher who wrote, “This is the best field trip ever…well organized, great curriculum, helpful docents.”

Community outreach is an important component of the education committee, and we have recently expanded our efforts in this area. During this past summer, a coalition of winter sports groups including Ski Utah, Utah Winter Games, Youth Sports Alliance, Utah Olympic Park, and the Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation met to devise ways in which to support each other’s efforts and distribute information about each group’s programs. Thanks to the management of Utah Olympic Park, we are able to give three free admission passes and zip-line rides to each student and teacher participating in the field-trip program. This has introduced many Utah residents to the park and the museum. Our new website provides a wonderful overview of the field-trip experience and allows teachers to make on-line field-trip reservations.

Connie Nelson and our dedicated docents are the greatest ambassadors for our program. Teachers rave about our docents and the way they make their students feel “special and respected.” This gives our program a wonderful reputation in the community. We recently welcomed a dynamic lady, Trish Walker, to our docent ranks and invite those of you who enjoy history, skiing, and/or working with kids to join this fun, congenial group of volunteers.

Our continuing thanks to our generous sponsors, Summit County RAP Tax and Marriner S. Eccles Foundation who both made and continue to help make our education program available at no cost to Utah schools. Because of their generosity, thousands of students, many from Title I schools, have visited Utah Olympic Park for the first time to experience a part of their cultural heritage.

We are very proud of our education program and the far-reaching benefits it provides to the community. As committee chair, I am extremely appreciative to all who have worked so hard and given so much to make this possible.
