RICHARD D. (DICK) BASS (1929—)

Passionate dreamer, extroverted optimist, adventurous mountaineer and energized entrepreneur. Richard D. (Dick) Bass personifies each trait with nonstop verbosity and hyper-enthusiasm. A man of blanket curiosity and persevering determination, Dick's accomplishments are mountainous, literally and figuratively. They range from being the first to reach the summit of the highest mountain on each of the world's continents to nurturing Utah's Snowbird Ski and Summer Resort into a world-class, year-round destination. He was born in Tulsa, Oklahoma, but since the age of three has made Dallas, Texas, his home.

SIEGFRIED (SIGI) ENGL (1911—1982)

A stylish competitor and inspirational ski instructor, Siegfried (Sigi) Engl carved an indelible swath of accomplishments on the slopes of Europe and the Intermountain West.

A native of Kitzbuhel, Austria, Sigi was a ski instructor by age 15, won the Italian downhill and slalom championships in 1931, the Hahnenkamm combined and the famous Marmolata downhill in 1935. He won the Austrian slalom and downhill championships twice and was a member of the Austrian FIS World Championship Team for two years. In 1937 Sigi became an instructor at Badger Pass in Yosemite National Park, California, and two years later joined the ski school at Sun Valley, Idaho, where he won the prestigious Harriman Cup in 1941.

During World War II he was a member of the storied 10th Mountain Division serving in Italy. In 1952 Sigi became director of the Sun Valley Ski School where his innovative instructional methods vaulted the school into international prominence. He was inducted into the National Ski Hall of Fame in 1971 and in 1974 the president of Austria awarded him Austria's Golden Medal of Honor for his distinguished service. "Sigi's Bowl" on Sun Valley's Bald Mountain is a lasting tribute to the contributions he made to his beloved sport of skiing.

As a graduate of Yale in 1950, Dick's multi-faceted credentials include successful forays into geology, petroleum engineering, ranching and recreation. In 1962 he was one of the original investors in Vail Ski Resort and in 1986 co-authored the book, Seven Summits, about his climbing adventures. He was honored by the National Ski Areas Association (NSAA) in 2006 with their Lifetime Achievement Award. In June 2007, he received the Sheldon Coleman Great Outdoors Award from American Recreation Coalition (ARC) in Washington D.C., recognizing his significant contributions to skiing and recreation. His undaunted faith and innermost strengths are founded in his mantra that, "If it's meant to be, it's up to me." Utah's Snowbird Resort, which he opened in 1971, stands as a living testimonial to his words.

Bass, Engen, Engl, Korologos Enter Intermountain Ski Hall of Fame

By Mike Korologos

UTAH OLYMPIC PARK, UT—Four men who made significant contributions to winter sports in the region in very far-reaching and diverse ways were inducted into the Intermountain Ski Hall of Fame on Thursday, September 24, 2009 (see accompanying biographies).

Induction ceremonies were held at the Joe Quinney Winter Sports Center at the Utah Olympic Park and attracted a capacity 180 well-wishers. The Intermountain Ski Hall of Fame was established in 2002 and the Class of 2009 increases the number of inductees to 42.

Each honoree received a plaque bearing his likeness and biographical overview of accomplishments and achievements that merit Hall of Fame status. A similar plaque was enshrined in the Will and Jean Pickett Intermountain Ski Hall of Fame, located in the main foyer of the

ALAN K. ENGEN (1940—)

An inherent love of skiing defines Alan K. Engen. A native of Salt Lake City, he started skiing at age two and was a skiing competitor by age nine. Alan was a five-time Intermountain junior ski champion and a five-time senior champion involving both Nordic and Alpine events. He was an All American skier for the University of Utah, member of the U.S. military ski team which participated at the highest level of international skiing competition in Europe and was a perennial winner in U.S. Masters Series ski events. He was named a Utah Ski Legend (1988), inducted into the Utah Sports Hall of Fame (1991), added to the honored roles of the U.S. National Ski Hall of Fame (2004) and inducted into the University of Utah Crimson Club Hall of Fame (2006). He meshed his quiet, persuasive manner with his passion for preserving the history of skiing in the West to record his most notable accomplishment—spearheading the building of the Joe Quinney Winter Sports Center/Alf Engen Ski Museum. He also authored two books on skiing, served as chairman and president of the Alta Historical Society, and was a charter member of the University of Utah J. Willard Marriott Library Ski Archives Advisory Board. He has been involved at Alta for over 50 years as a ski instructor, ski school director, and later Director of Skiing and was a torchbearer for both the 1996 and 2002 Olympic Summer and Winter Games. Alan Engen made skiing history by helping to perpetuate it.

MIKE C. KOROLOGOS (1937—)

Mike C. Korologos used the written word to leave his imprint on the annals of skiing. For more than 50 years his writing and photographs enlightened readers of periodicals worldwide about winter sports in the Intermountain West.

His way with words was instrumental in Salt Lake City's successful quest to host the 2002 Olympic Winter Games. Mike served as communications director for the organizing committee of those games.

A native of Salt Lake City and a graduate of the University of Utah, Mike started his writing career at The Salt Lake Tribune where he was ski editor for 10 years. He received the State of Utah Tourism Achievement Award in 1984 and was named Ski Journalist of the Year in 1992 by Ski Utah. In 2003 he was awarded the Lifetime Achievement Award by the International Ski History Association.

A willing volunteer for numerous worthy causes, Mike was a charter member of the Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation Board of Directors and a long-serving member of University of Utah J. Willard Marriott Library Ski Archives Advisory Board. If it pertained to skiing, Mike had a word for it.

BILL
LEVITT—
1917-2009

*by Alan K.
Engen*

In the Who's Who of Alta over the past half century, the name William "Bill"

Levitt stands among the first rank. Although not a native to Utah, as he once said, "I am one of Utah's most loyal patriots." Bill sadly passed away at his beloved Alta Lodge on December 29, 2009 while enjoying the company of his many guests.

Levitt, born February 18, 1917, started his skiing interest in the early 1930s. However, he did not take up the sport in earnest until the mid 1950s. It was then that he and his wife decided to go west and try skiing over the Thanksgiving holiday at Aspen, Colorado. However, because of marginal early season snow conditions at Aspen that year and based on a recommendation, they changed their plans and went to Alta instead. According to Levitt, that trip resulted in "a long-lasting love affair with that location high in the towering Wasatch Mountains." Levitt continued, "I had to make a choice, buy United Airlines so I could afford to continue coming to Alta on a frequent basis or purchase the Alta Lodge. I decided to do the latter and bought the lodge in 1959 from J. Laughlin."

Bill Levitt was first elected as president of the incorporated Town of Alta in 1971, and so remained until 1975 when the Utah Legislature changed the designation from President to Mayor. Levitt was unanimously re-elected, thus becoming Alta's first "elected" mayor. The only other person up until that time who carried that title was the late George Watson who self-appointed himself as Mayor of Alta in the late 1930s. Levitt's reign as Alta's Mayor lasted 34 years. This stands as perhaps the longest continuous span of service provided by any mayor in Utah's history. Throughout his years as Alta's mayor, Levitt chose to limit his annual mayoral salary to $1.00.

Tom Pollard, Alta's current elected mayor and Bill's replacement gave this comment: "Bill Levitt's passion for the job and his dedication to the community is something I hope to match...but it will be a daunting task to adequately fill his shoes." To this, all who knew Bill would agree. His passing leaves a hole in the Alta community that will remain for many years to come.

JERRY NUNN —1922-2009

By Alan K. Engen

America's first accredited woman forest ranger, Jerry Nunn, passed away on August 20, 2009, in Flagstaff, Arizona.

Jerry is especially remembered for participating in the 1957 Intermountain Forest Service Snow Ranger certification course held at Alta. When she initially pre-registered, no one knew, considering the way she spelled her first name, that she was a female... applying at that time for a spot in an entirely male dominated program. After lengthy discussion and considerable reservation, she was reluctantly allowed to participate and take the extensive exams which she passed with top honors. She later went on to partner with the late Montgomery M. Atwater, legendary U.S. avalanche control expert, in development and marketing of the Avalauncher, a gas-powered gun used for avalanche control.

Jerry was considered a long time friend and supporter of both the Utah Ski Archives and the Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation. She was inducted into the U.S. National Ski Hall of Fame in 2003.

ALBERT F.
'SUNNY'
KORFANTA—
1915-2009

By Mike Korologos

There was a very good reason Albert F. Korfanta was known as "Sunny". The moniker conveyed his personality, his demeanor and irrepressible smile.

Those attributes were his trademark during a remarkable lifetime of being a Pinedale, WY businessman, a willing volunteer, a caring ski coach and a ski area pioneer

He and his wife, Fanny, partnered with the U.S. Forest Service to plan Surveyor Park Ski Area (later named White Pine Ski Area) and when it opened in January, 1940 they served as volunteer managers for decades afterward.

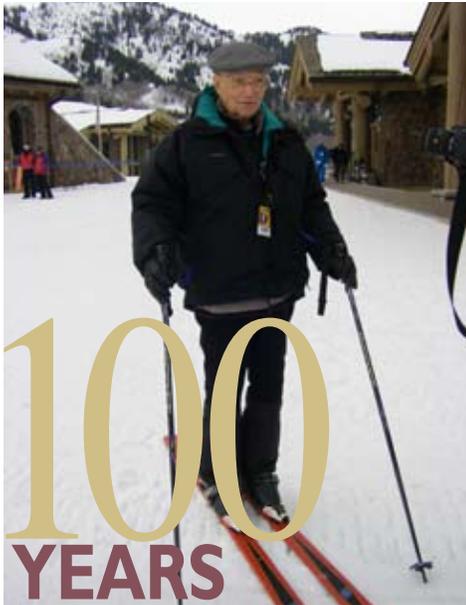

Korfanta coached and ferried young skiers from the Pinedale area to ski competitions in Utah, Idaho and Wyoming for several years and served as an officer of the Intermountain Division of the U.S. Ski Assn. In recognition of his numerous contributions to the enhancement of winter sports in the region, he was recognized at the 2007 Ski Affair as a Historymaker and was inducted into the Intermountain Ski Hall of Fame in 2008.

Sunny Korfanta died December 21, 2009, at age 94.

Celebrates Birthday At Snowbasin—On Skis

OGDEN, Utah (Jan. 15, 2010)—It was a festive day at Snowbasin today with Dew Tour action and local Ogden resident, Dr. Vernal Johnson, celebrating his 100th birthday. According to Dr. Johnson, he has been skiing at Snowbasin for 88 years.

He sat by the fire in Earl's Lodge, talking about his early experiences at Snowbasin. "We would drive up an old dirt road to get here," said Dr. Johnson. "We took an old chassis, tied a rope around an old tree on School Hill, put it in reverse, and made a rope tow to pull us up the hill," he said. When asked what he thought of the resort today, he smiled and said that it had changed a bit, but that it was wonderful. Mr. Earl Holding, owner of Snowbasin, extended a congratulatory handshake to Dr. Johnson. In contrast to the make-shift tow rope, Snowbasin now has one of the most advanced lift systems in the west.

Today, Dr. Johnson has four generations of family members that also enjoy skiing. With family and friends cheering him on, Dr. Johnson skied a short distance to celebrate his 100th year.

"As far as we can tell, Dr. Johnson is the longest standing life-time season pass holder at Snowbasin," said Jodi Holmgren, Snowbasin spokesperson. "It was a pleasure talking to Dr. Johnson today. His jovial demeanor and active lifestyle through a commitment to the sport of skiing, is certainly a testament to longevity," said Holmgren.

The Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation Joins eBay Giving Works!

A new online venture for the Alf Engen Museum Foundation began in November 2009 when we joined eBay Giving Works. This site gives nonprofits the tools to reach a new audience, connect with existing donors, and tap into new sources of funding. Nonprofits have received more than $150 million through eBay Giving Works from generous eBay buyers and sellers.

The Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation has a dedicated eBay Giving Works page showing all listings and sellers currently benefiting the Foundation, a link to the Museum's website, and more. Through eBay's searchable database, buyers and sellers can find the Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation by name, cause, or location. To find our Giving Works page, click on the "Giving Works" link in the "Favorite Categories" section.

MissionFish, an independent nonprofit organization, powers the eBay Giving Works program. It screens all nonprofits wishing to become members and processes all donations that result from successful eBay Giving Works listings, as well as "Donate Now" and "Give at Checkout" donations. MissionFish collects eBay members' donations and makes sure that every donation gets to the intended nonprofit. And because MissionFish is a nonprofit itself, 100% of the donation/sale amount is tax deductible to the extent allowed by law. When items sell, listing fees are refunded to the nonprofit by eBay.

BUY, SELL, DONATE

An eBay Giving Works blue and yellow ribbon identifies listings that support nonprofits. The Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation has been selling books and vintage ski photos directly on eBay through this program. In addition to purchasing one of these items, shoppers can donate to the Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation at eBay checkout. Any eBay seller can commit to donating a percentage of their listing's final sale price to the Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation and any eBay member with a PayPal account can make an online cash donation of as little as $1 to a worthy nonprofit through the eBay "Giving Works Donate Now" program.

We are also on KSL.com!

Once the Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation was established on eBay Giving Works, our listings were simply replicated on KSL Classifieds (ksl.com).

The presence of the Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation on eBay Giving Works and KSL Classifieds gives Foundation members new opportunities to support the museum and reaches the general audience of online shoppers as well.

From the days that Alf Engen hiked into Little Cottonwood Canyon and Joe Quinney raised money for a chairlift in Alta, life has forever changed in Utah's Wasatch Mountains. The benefit that snow sports have brought to the Intermountain Area is immeasurable. What a privilege we have at the Alf Engen Ski Museum Foundation to preserve this story and its legacy!

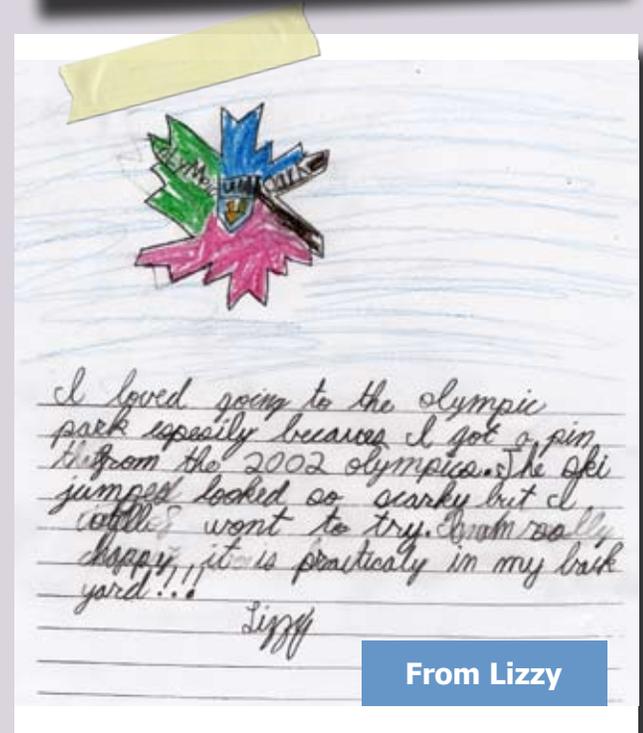

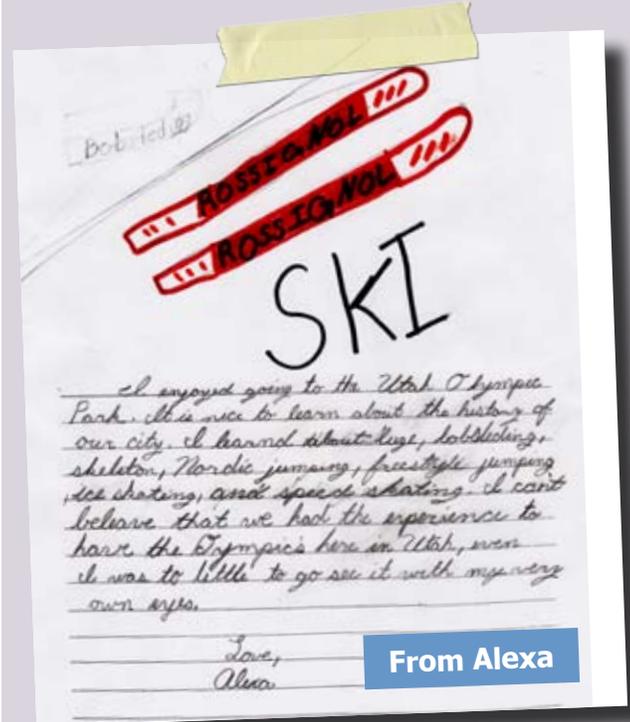

Because of Foundation contributors, the talented and committed Board of Trustees and an extraordinary Executive Director, we will persist in our goal to enrich the experience of our tourists, students of the Educational Field Trip Program and all those who visit us "for the love of skiing."

As the new Chairman, I feel a great obligation and honor to further the work of the past outstanding chairmen, Scott Ulbrich and Alan Engen. This year, working within the budget confines of today's economy, we hope to add another exhibit that highlights our pictorial history and demonstrates our unique relationship with the University of Utah J. Willard Marriott Library Ski Archives.

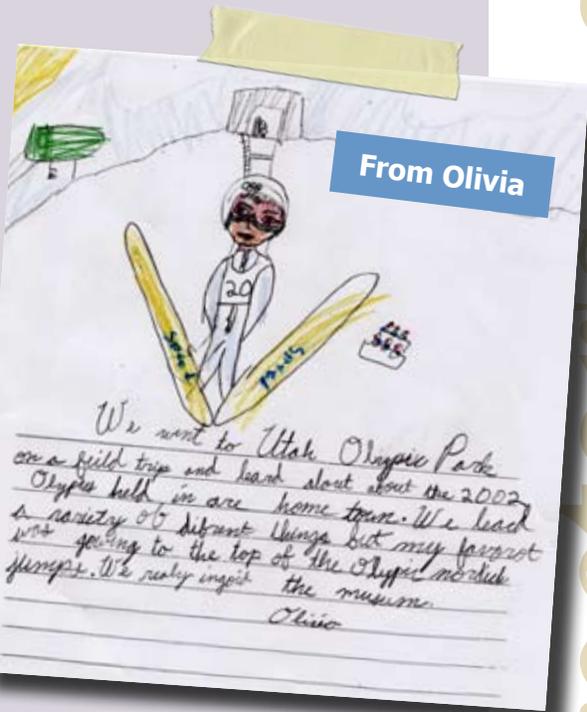

While at the Alf Engen Ski Museum, be sure to relive the exciting Olympic experience by also visiting the George Eccles 2002 Winter Olympic Games Museum. Both museums are housed in the Quinney Center at Utah Olympic Park.

This thought by Larry Kupper says it all: "Early morning sunrays breaking over mountain peaks and filtering onto the valley below, cold air and fresh snow flinging itself into my face. The thrill of speed and yet floating as if flying with the birds above. You got to love it."

By Connie Nelson

Welcome to another edition of the Ski Meister! I would like to begin with a big THANK YOU to Scott Ulbrich for his leadership and support as Chairman/President of our Foundation over the past five years. In that time, we achieved several goals: constructing new exhibits, inducting more honorees into the Hall of Fame, and attracting new Museum members and donors while keeping the Foundation financially solvent in a very tumultuous year. Your leadership, Scott, was a guiding light—thank you!

Now, a big WELCOME to David Vandehei as our new Chairman/President. David brings a wealth of business knowledge from 32 years as an executive for JC Penney Company. David and his wife, Susan, have been involved at Utah Olympic Park since volunteering for the 2002 Winter Olympic Games and are lead docents for our Educational Field Trip Program. David and Susan have a great love of skiing and especially enjoy Alta Ski Resort.

Some of the Museum highlights since our last newsletter include:

- Starting the 2009/2010 School Year with a full schedule—36 registered Educational Field Trip schools. This is the first time we have had a complete “sell-out” since starting our Field Trip program in 2002. Our Educational Field Trip program is made possible thanks to the Summit County RAP Tax Grant, the Marriner S. Eccles Foundation and the Park City Sunrise Rotary Club.
- Continuing to update our website through Search Engine Optimization—thanks to CentralPoint Systems. Please take the time to visit www.engenmuseum.org and see what is new. Thanks to the Summit County 1% Restaurant Tax Grant which made this website enhancement possible.
- Installing a new web cam kiosk exhibit that is linked to our website and enables Museum guests to send a postcard of themselves and/or their group to friends and family via e-mail. This exhibit was made possible thanks to a grant from the Utah Office of Museum Services.
- Installing a new Intermountain Ski Hall of Fame structure to accommodate our yearly induction of Hall of Fame members. This exhibit was made possible thanks to a generous grant from the George S. and Dolores Dore Eccles Foundation.
- Our Exhibit Committee is currently working with the Prance Corporation to install a new exhibit in the Museum Foyer. The proposed exhibit will feature a video wall comprised of 4 by 40 inch LCD TVs displaying University of Utah J. Willard Library Ski Archives photos and video content. This exhibit is also made possible thanks to the George S. and Dolores Dore Eccles Foundation.

Thank you to the very supportive and gifted Board of Trustees, patient docents, generous granting agencies, wonderful museum members and all of the fabulous museum guests who come through our doors each year. Wow! What a fabulous year we have had already!
